Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Plant-Up

All Organizations To Co-Operate In Drive

Woman's Club Expect City-wide Drive to Be Most Effective Yet—Stores to Decorate, Vacant Lots Cleared

AUSMUS POND DESIGNATED AS CITY DUMPING GROUND

With the cooperation of the Woman's Club, the Ministerial Association, the Kiwanis Club, the Elks, the Merchants' Association, other business men and the school children the clean-up campaign promises to be city-wide in its effect and to make of Middlesboro a place of beauty.

Merchants will begin their part of the work tomorrow by decorating their windows along inexpensive but artistic lines and in cleaning up their premises. They were the first to fall in line with the program prepared by the Woman's Club and their work will be perhaps more effective than any other group of men.

Billboards which have often been criticized as unsightly in Middlesboro will receive the attention of the Wilder Poster service which have taken over the work for this city. The organization is now making the vacant lot adjoining the News Stand on the east side into a flower garden. At the rear of the garden an artistic billboard will be placed. They intend to remove certain old and unsightly boards which front on Cumberland avenue and place more attractive ones at the rear of the lot and make gardens in front of them. The work cannot all be done in one week but the firm has already begun the work and promises not to stop until conditions are completely changed.

The Brown Amusement company has promised to run slides advertising the health campaign and the Wilder Poster service will also aid the advertising. Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts will distribute health placards.

The effects of the movement originated now will last all the year. Flower seeds will be given pupils of the city schools and prizes will be awarded those having the prettiest collection of flowers at the Harvest Festival next fall. Plans are also under way to plant flowers along the banks of the canal which have heretofore been used as rubbish heaps.

A number of owners of vacant lots have offered these for use as public parks and Cecil Owsley has offered to lend some of the seats of the vacant lot on Cumberland avenue for any little parks that may be started

Mrs. D. G. Hinks, president of the Woman's Club says that she is meeting with splendid cooperation, that every one seems to be falling in line with the sweeping campaign Many places, including the canal banks at the rear of the city hall, are being cleaned up today.

As examples of some phases of the clean-up work which have been done, the taking down of the unsafe and unsightly swinging bridge and the recent redecoration of the school auditorium may be mentioned.

"In cooperation with the Woman's club I heartily endorse the clean-up campaign in the name of the Elks," said Arthur Rhorer. "and as evidence of good faith we have already cleaned up the premises back of the Elks Home."

The minister have, as an organization and as individuals, have endorsed the campaign and announcements of its inauguration will be made from all the city pulpits Sunday morning.

Chief H. E. Ball says that the Ausmus Pond near North Sixteenth street and Lothbury avenue will be used as a dumping place for the garbage. The rubbish will there serve a useful purpose in filling up the pond.

Chief Ball says that he will fully cooperate with the mayor in the clean-up campaign. He understands, he says, that Mayor Keeney has promised a wagon or two for hauling off the garbage. The city prisoners will be used for loading and unloading the wagons so that the work can progress rapidly.

"All the good people of the city will clean up," said the chief, "and if there are any others that refuse to carry out the law they will be called into police court to answer the charges against them."

SURFACE CONTRACT LET TOMORROW

Work On Pineville-Cumberland Gap To Be Finished By June 15

Contract for the first re-surfacing of the Pineville-Middlesboro road, 10 miles, under the maintenance contract will be let at Frankfort tomorrow according to advertisement for bids released this week by the state department. At the same time bids will be received for the original surfacing of two miles of the Middlesboro-Cumberland Gap road and one mile of resurfacing

The work will be done between May 1 and June 15, according to plans of Steve Watkins, division engineer, located here who wants to get the new bituminous surfacing and patchwork done before the heavy summer traffic would interfere.

PUT CONCRETE ON BARBOURVILLE ROAD

Expect Completion in Three Months—Detour by Artemus Now Necessary

PINEVILLE, Apr. 19—The work of pouring the concrete upon the road from Barbourville to Pineville was started Tuesday morning, according to Steve Watkins, division engineer. This work is being begun about five miles this side of Barbourville and will work back toward that town. When these five miles are completed, the work will be started at Flat Lick and move back to meet the other finished. It is hoped that a mile will be completed a week, or at least the five miles in six weeks.

The cement will have to set for twenty-one days and then the rock-asphalt top will be put on. Three days after the road will be ready for use. The entire length of the road is 12.77 miles, so that it will be three months before it is all completed.

A detour by the way of Artemus is necessary now until the work is completed

M. H. S. PLAYS L. M. U. SECOND BASEBALL TEAM THERE TODAY

Middlesboro High School baseball team will play the L. M. U. second team at Harrogate this afternoon. This is the first game of the season for the local boys and, in view of the fact that the L. M. U. second team beat Tazewell 36 to 1 Tuesday, the outcome of the game, for Middlesboro, looks black.

The L. M. U. first team is making a successful tour through the south Monday they played Tusculum, at Greeneville, Tenn., and defeated them 8 to 4. The Normal School team at Johnson City went down before them yesterday, the score being 13 to 4 Rain called off the game Tuesday.

BARUCH TELLS U. S. PROSPERITY HINGES ON REPARATIONS

Famous Financier Says Germany Will Dominate World Trade If Let Off Too Easy on War Settlements

URGES AMERICA TO TAKE PART IN FIXING REPARATION

NEW YORK, April 19.—These are the two big things that must be done to insure a continuation of prosperity financier, economist, and former chairman of the War Industries Board:

"The farmer must organize commercially to market his goods co-operatively on a big business scale in order that he will have a fairer relationship established between what he produces an sells and what he buys

"Industry, labor, and business are organized to help themselves. The farmer remains outside For his own salvation he must organize commercially or he'll get nowhere. He buys from organized industry, and he sells as a weak individual The credit and other legal machinery has been provided for his co-operative marketing, but he has not yet been able to raise above internal quarrels between rival agricultural organizations to safeguard his own pocketbook.

"Above all the reparations question in America, says Bernard M. Baruch, must be settled in an equitable way: first, so that there shall be no situation like Alsace-Lorraine, which will surely end in another war; second, so that Germany shall not be forced to undertake an impossible payment; third, so that our farmers, workers, and business men will not be injured by Germany's escape from a just settlement"

Baruch thus amplified his statement that a real danger now lying ahead is in German domination of world trade in case war reparations are fixed at too low a figure. It would be more dangerous to America, he declares, than if it were fixed at too high a rate.

"Our own prosperity is not the whole thing," he said. "It is a question of honor, with which business is inextricably bound. We are in honor bound to see justice to Germany as well as to France."

Baruch believes that America must have a share in fixing reparations because it is a moral obligation undertaken at the time the armistice was signed.

"It will be rather a grim joke on us," he said, "if we will not recognize this obligation even from a selfish point of view. We ought not allow Germany to escape on the ground that she is too poor. If we do, we will find that it is ourselves who are poor—made poor by hard times—and Germany a commercial power ruling the world. Then Germany certainly will have won the peace. Nor should we permit Germany to be destroyed or over-burdening her or stripping her of her territory.

"Suppose American railroads and industries, manufacturing, cities, states, and the United States government itself could get rid tomorrow of all fixed charges, mortgages, bonds and interest! Cost of production of everything would decrease tremendously; prices would go down. That is exactly what will happen in Germany with too low reparations—with all fixed obligations practically repudiated by inflation with nthing to pay externally or internally except their own industrial taxes.

"It is no different from any other interest but is it so unique for farmers to demand and get equality of treatment that it amazed everybody, who immediately read them stern economic and civic lectures!"

MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION

Know All Men, Women and Children By These Presents:

That, where as the National Clean Up and Paint Up Campaign has resulted in so many advantages to communities throughout the United States, in safeguarding health, promoting thrift, furthering fire prevention, stimulating civic pride and making more beautiful homes and cities.

And, whereas our whole city can and should be made more cleanly and orderly and our community safer, happier and healthier,

Therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in me as Mayor, with the hearty approval of far-seeing and zealous citizens, we hereby proclaim the week of April 22 as the opening date of a continuous Clean Up and Paint Up Campaign. Away with rubbish heaps! Banish the plague spots! Clean up streets and alleys! Cut the weeds, mow the lawns and trim the hedges! Repair and paint every building that needs it.

We need this thorough cleaning and renovation. It is the sensible thing to do for the health, safety, thrift, pride and happiness of all our people.

It is everybody's job. Every man, woman and child will be expected to help. Let there be no slackers.

(Signed) J H KEENEY, Mayor.

HEALTH OFFICERS ASKS CITIZENS' CO-OPERATION IN CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN

The mayor of Middlesboro has proclaimed April 23rd to 28th as the Spring "Clean-Up and Paint-Up Week" As Health Officer of Bell County, I earnestly solicit the support and cooperation of every citizen, firm and organization of Middlesboro to make this a most successful Clean-Up Campaign. Aside from the one great reason, health of the community, there is another big reason why every one should lend a helping hand, and that is his civic pride

Every one is aware of the fact that old garbage is one ofthe best breeding soils for flies, and that flies are the greatest menace with which we have to deal from a health standpoint. After cleaning up a yard where garbage has been dumped for some time, some lime should be scattered about because it not only destroys the eggs and young of all forms of insects, but changes the odor damp musty one to one of freshness. The garbage must hereafter be placed in covered containers, not dumped in alleys and yards but hauled away and dumped on ground which is oo be designated as the City Dump. Here again every citizen can be of help in seeing that the city is kept clean and by reporting to Chief Ball any one who is seen throwing garbage where it should not be thrown. Let us then make it "Clean-Up" and continue so.

Every home and store where food is offered for sale is urged to see that their place is properly screened at this time. There are a number of standing pools of water in the city which owners must have drained are have crude oil poured around the edges to prevent the breeding of mosquitoes.

As to civic pride let us all put our shoulders to the wheel to make the city cleaner so that when a stranger speaks of what a fine, clean, growing city Middlesboro really is, we will be proud to proclaim ourselves its citizens.

George Hays.

Sun Mr. Haynes expects the new building which he is erecting to be ready for occupancy by July 1.

MYSTIFIED PUBLIC STILL GUESSING ON "BOOM" SIGNIFICANCE

That the big word "BOOM" over Cumberland avenue is the inauguration of an advertising campaign to run Mayor J. H. Keeney for governor is the opinion that has been advanced and which has gained some credence in Middlesboro today. However, this is only one of the hundreds of guesses that have been made as to the significance of the sign or the identity of its creator.

Some say that it is the work of the K. K. K. and that it is sure to have a sinister meaning. Others are inclined to take a more cheerful view of it than either of the foregoing and opine that the sign is that of a barber who purports to be the monarch of all tonsorial artists.

Mrs. D. G. Hinks says that it has a splendid psychological effect on the clean-up campaign as a lot of people believe the Woman's Club is responsible for the existence of the sign and thus the public mind has become concentrated on the campaign, partially through the agency of the sign.

Are any of these guesses correct? Who is the author of the mysterious cryptogram, as it were, which has caused so much public comment?

WOULD SHUT OFF TRADING IN SUGAR FUTURES ENTIRELY

Daugherty Preparing Bill to Ask Federal Court Permanently to Enjoin Exchange Permitting Sugar Transactions

FEBRUARY SPECULATION MADE $900,000 FOR SUGAR BROKERS

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Apr. 19.—Injunction proceedings to shut off completely trading in sugar futures was instituted in New York today by a Federal Government bill prepared under the personal direction of Attorney-General Daugherty, after consultation with President Harding. It asks the court permanently to enjoin the New York Coffee and Sugar exchange from entering into or permitting any transaction in sugar, "unless the person purporting to make such sale has in his possession or under his control a supply of sugar adequate to meet the requirements of such transaction." The action was taken, the government states, as a "result of an orgy of speculation which during February enriched brokers $900,000." A conspiracy in restraint of trade and commerce was charged and officials of exchange and of the coffee and sugar clearing house association were ordered to appear and answer the government allegation. The bill will advise the court that the exchange and clearing house to serve no legitimate or useful purpose in marketing sugar and exists only "as a means of contracting and speculating."

POOR FORK CITIZENS ORGANIZE NEW BANK

Harlan, April 19.—In a meeting of interested citizens of Poor Fork last week the Cumberland State Bank was organized and stock was subscribed. The Poor Fork men were assisted in their organization by A. M. Hiatt, cashier of the Citizens Bank at Brodhead.

The enthusiasm shown at the meeting was indicative of the loyal spirit of Poor Fork when anything for the benefit of their town is suggested. The stock was overscribed by $5000 in a very few minutes, and the following men were elected officers of the new bank: J. J. Huff, president; Ira Fields, first vice president; Dave Creech, second vice president; C. C. Brown, of Livingston, cashier.

The bank will open in temporary quarters in about thirty days and will begin the erection of a permanent building as soon as possible.

FOR A BETTER MIDDLESBORO

Specific improvements make up the details of a campaign for a BIGGER AND BETTER MIDDLESBORO, and a list is to be compiled of these details, for use from day to day. Today we are advocating:

That our passenger depot be made a cleaner, more sightly and more sanitary place at once, and that the utmost influence be brought to bear toward getting a new station.

That a general movement for street improvement be instituted immediately, with emphasis on repair and construction of Cumberland Avenue.

That a system of street marking be devised in this city so that a stranger or for that matter, a resident, can find his way around without undue inquiries.

That the ordinance prohibiting spitting in public places be rigidly enforced and the practice be condemned as repugnant and unsanitary. ... .

That the spiritual side may not be neglected in the campaign for a Better Middlesboro, but rather, that we should emphasize the importance of building spiritually as paramount to any material improvement.

That Middlesboro's lack of a fitting burial place be remedied and provisions for a cit ycemetery be made.

That every citizen of Middlesboro lend his wholehearted help in the Clean Up, Paint Up, Plant Up Campaign to be launched by the Woman's Club next week.

WHAT'S GOING ON IN THE WORLD

By Chas P. Stewart

The concession granted by Turkey to an American syndicate to make the Near East over into something really up-to-date means more, maybe, than folks generally realize

In fact, the syndicate will be undertaken one of the biggest pieces of work in the history of the world

The Turks' handling of the rival interests which have been trying to get control of their resources has been funny, in its way.

For years these interests were English, German French and Russian

The rivalry had much to do with bringing on the war

The was eliminated Germany The revolution, by giving Russia no end of troubles at home, weakened her as an international factor But the struggle between England and France was bitterer than ever Nor was Russia entirely out of it Her claims worried the other two countries' diplomats a good deal

It was around this three cornered dispute that the last Near East conference at Lausanne revolved The United States merely looked on

Making A Country Over

Now Turkey's turned around and handed over to Americans—the Chester syndicate—practically everything the others were squabbling about

How big the concession may be pudged from all it includes

Oil rights mining rights, commercial rights railroad building rights contract to transform Angora the new Turkish capital into a modern city, contract to develop Turkey's seaports build docks dredge harbors construct terminals—contracts in short to do everything necessary to set the Turks on their feet as an important agricultural commercial industrial people

If no hitch occurs the concession which the Turkish parliament has ratified in due form, insures American predominance in the Near East for a generation to come—a good deal more so than any League of Nations 'mandate" could have done

France Files Her Protest

France has come through with the first protest

It was filed by General Pelle Gallic representative on the interallied commission in Constantinople

Pelle says the American concession infringes one which the since deposed sultan gave to the French The Turks answer that they're paying no attention to what the deposed sultan did—he was just the allies hired man when he did it

It's fully expected that the English and Russians will protest, too, but it can be taken for granted that the Turks will say the same thing to them that they've said to the French

Of course, one of the protesting governments weaknesses is that they can't agree among themselves They oppose the United States but they oppose one another, as evil

Interested in the American concession are some very well known men, like Admiral Colby M Chester and General George W Goethals Kermit Roosevelt's name is mentioned also

The sum and substance of it is that the Turks thing they can trust the United States and they don't think they can trust the European powers

Debts Are Worrying Europe

England's example, in arranging to pay her war debts seems to be having an effect on other countries

The Finns and Czechoslovacks have said they're ready to give bonds for their informal wartime promissory notes Serbia and Rumania announce themselves ready to acknowledge what they own It isn't the same thing as paying but it shows good will

More important, because he represents a bigger country, Premier Mussolini is planning to name a commission to decide on a method of clearing Italy's slate

If Italy fails in line, it will become disagreeably noticeable that France hasn't been heard from, which will make it hard for her to avoid doing something, too

So it begins to look as if Americans might get back some of the funds they advanced during the war—loans which they thought were pretty doubtful for awhile

Was De Valera Captured?

It was reported last week that Eamon de Valera head of the Irish rebels who refused to accept the Free State Government had been captured but the government says not The rebels story is that the capture actually was made but that the government didn't dare to kill De Valera, on account of the uproar it would have created, and not knowing what else to do with him, turned him loose.

Bonar Law Refuses to Quit

The conservatives have a majority in the English parliament but a vot happened to be taken last week when a lot of their members were absent, and the result, on that particular ballot, was that they lost

The Labor party is next in strength, and according to numerous Labor members, the Conservative ministers ought thereupon to have resigned in favor of a Labor cabinet

Strict English precedent does call for this, but it's a rule which has been broken several times in recent years when the majority was temporary and accidental and the question wasn't important, as in the present case

So the Conservatives wouldn't quit.

Liber members were very angry, created a "scene" an Colonel Walter Guinness, Conservative assistant secretary of war, got a crack on the nose

All this was unprecedented in the sedate House of Commons.

No Help Is Wanted

France and Belgium, dispatches say, are preparing a statement of their demands on Germany, in expectation of a German proposition soon, if they'll get out of the Ruhr.

Among diplomats it's understood they propose to be mighty quick with their answer to hea any other country off from getting in with an offer to arbitrate

They don't want arbitration. They want to settle the Ruhr question themselves

FIVE—Does the calling of a balk have any effect on the status of the batter? That is, can he go to first base in any situation which involves the calling of a balk?

ANSWERS:

ONE—The umpire makes the ground rules, if the two captains are unable to reach a decision

TWO—He is not supposed to but conditions often arise that make it necessary He should appeal to the umpire, who will always call time if the pitcher has not started his delivery

THREE—The umpire working at the plate should give the decision at third

FOUR—It is only necessary that a pitcher complete the throw to first when he starts such an act It is not necessary that he do so when making a feint to second or third

FIVE—The calling of a balk in no way affects the status of the batsman He can never go to first base on a called balk.

"THE CAT AND THE CANARY" PLAYS HERE MONDAY NIGHT

Glad times for Middlesboro playgoers are on the way, for announcement is made that the sensational thriller, "The Cat and the Canary" will come to Manning theater, Monday, April 23rd. During the eight month's run of this spirited melodrama at the National Theatre in New York all attendance records have been smashed and with the play also running strong as the reigning dramatic success in Chicago and London, there is every reason to believe that Middlesboro people will find it as highly diverting as have the playgoers in the larger centers of population

No play of recent years has had the exact qualities of "The Cat and the Canary" It is a thriller of the first order—a mystery play that raises the hair and starts the goose flesh growing It is also a comedy that lifts the audience out of its seats with queer dramatic twists. To see "The Cat and the Canary" and not talk about it is impossible, which in a measure is responsible for its widespread popular appeal. With productions in New York and Chicago, as well as in England and Australia, this enlivening play is unquestionably seen by more people daily than any attraction since "Within the Law."

FRENCH BACK RUHR INVASION

"Germany Ruined All; Should Pay For It" Is General Opinion

By WILLIAM SIMMONS

PARIS, April 19.— I was sitting on the terrace of a boulevard cafe watching the Sunday crowd throng by.

"Tell me," I said to the friendly waiter at my elbow, "what do all these people think about the Ruhr—the trouble with Germany—and all?"

"Ils pensent," she said quickly, "qu'ils ont tout casse: Qu'ils paient!" (They think the Germans destroyed everything: Let them pay!)

Before I left America I had been told the French were opposed to the occupation of the Ruhr; that they were opposed to Premier Poincare's plan to collect from Germany; that only French "militarists" were for the occupation and were pushing Poincare on to his own and to France's destruction: that the annexation of the Rhineland was the underlying desire of the French government.

Now what is the real truth?

To get at it I did not ask members of the French cabinet, nor army officers, nor bankers, or industrials who might have their eyes on the Ruhr and be thinking of what the coal and coke of that district might mean to French steel.

I went to some old friends—regular honest-to-John French folks who work like everybody else for their living.

I went to a shoemaker, a traveling salesman, a garden seed merchant, an elderly lady who keeps books in a little factory, the waiter in my favorite little restaurant, a dirt farmer, a sign painter, a dentist and a civil engineer.

And if I tried a week I could not sum up what they all said briefer or better than did the waiter in the boulevard cafe.

And to me the most interesting revelation of all was the total absence of fire-eating. Not a one but insisted the Germans should be made to pay—and would be made to pay—but only "all they were able to."

Nobody had any fixed idea as to the amount Germany could pay. All agreed she could never pay the cost of the war, nor any considerable part of it. Butthey were confident that she wouldnow have to pay what she can, be that little or much.

So they are for the Ruhr venture—don't ever doubt it—and insist that the troops camp there until Berlin sues for terms.

Paint-Up -- Clean-Up WEEK April 22-28, 1923

"Does It Matter Much, Mother?"

WHAT matter if the rug is littered, so long as little daughter is learning to be useful and industrious? The Royal will pick up all the scraps, threads and lint in a jiffy and leave the rug clean and bright as ever.

Its powerful, cleansing air stream also gets all the dirt that feet, large and small, have ground deep down into the rug.

The Royal cleans and purifies through and through. Rug-wearing, mother-tiring, health-menacing dirt cannot stay in the same house with the Royal.

We'll gladly demonstrate in your home.

A THOUGHT

The sluggard will not plow by reason of the cold; therefore shall he beg in harvest and have nothing.—Prov. 20:4.

Most natures are insolent: cannot satisfy their own wants, have an ambition out of all proportion to their practical force, and so do lean and beg day and night continually.—Emerson.

PREPARATIONS FOR CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN

Members of the Woman's club and other civic organizations who have endorsed and aided in preparations for the clean-up campaign have set an example of unselfish interest in the welfare of Middlesboro that other citizens would do well to follow. Leaders of the Woman's club have not only originated the ideas along which the campaign should be conducted but have also spent a great deal of time in visiting the various merchants and others who will co-operate in the work.

It is such organizations made up of this quality of members that make living conditions decent and pleasant in a town like Middlesboro. It is mete and proper that we should give full credit to these untiring workers who have, at the sacrifice of their own not only the leadership but a major part of the work and responsibility attending the clean-up drive.

Though the campaign proper does not begin until next week, it is necessary that we make our plans now for performance of specific phases of the work that lay in countless numbers on every side. The success of any work invariably depends on careful planning and forethought. If this is done logically and systematically the actual work will be done thoroughly and efficiently in the scheduled time.

We have all more or less, contributed to the existing conditions of untidiness on the streets and abutting vacant places, on the vacant lots, back yards and other places. There is probably not one among us who has not cast rubbish of some description in some improper place or who has not allowed some piece of property to become unsightly through lack of paint. Consequently, every one should aid in the movement, if not by actual work, then by influence or executive management.

And certainly the city is due a rising vote of thinks to civic organizations prominent among which is the Woman's club.

DANCING CHAMPS

What is your private opinion of these girls who wear out several orchestras and a half dozen male partners apiece to get the title, "endurance dancing championship of the world?"

It's an interesting but futile pursuit that will take its health toll later in the young dancers' lives. Over exertion always presents its bill. And it always collect—in full.

Men run marathons, collapse at the end. The crowd cheers. No one thinks the runner are "cuckoo" for over-exerting.

Other men over-exert, contesting to see which can lift the heaviest weights or bend the thickest iron dar over the chest. Crazy? It's never suggested.

But when the girls come forth to demonstrate endurance, you hear people on all sides grunting and sniffing. Envious, perhaps. But more striking is the demonstration that what's sauce for the goose is not sauce for the gander.

This bit of psychology is evident all through life in its various ramifications. Man seems entitled to make almost any kind of a jackass of himself, without question. Woman, however, is quickly ridiculed.

The endurance dancing craze started in England several months ago. First only a few dancers took it up. Then whole crowds caught the spirit. We'll probably have a repetition—people going in a mob to a continuous dance, trying to trip the light fantastic all night or longer.

Freak dancing waves comes periodically. Epidemic insanity—social hysteria, as the psychologists call it. Europe in 1374 had a dancing craze that wound up with people dancing in the streets until they fell screaming and foaming at the mouth.

An Italian doctor decided that the dancing disease was due to the bite of the tarantula, a large spider. On the theory of setting a fire to stop an advancing forest fire, he invented a dance which he prescribed to his patients—the tarantella dance. Confidentially, we believe that 24 hours of endurance-dancing would cure us of dancing for all time.

THE OPEN FORUM

Editor Daily News:

The Salvation Army could do a still greater work if they had a suitable building. The one they now occupy which has sheltered hundreds of unfortunates is fast going to decay. It was not only during the war that the Army made its name. For fifteen years in Middlesboro it has been doing a Christianlike work by feeding the hungry, clothing the naked, sheltering the homeless and preaching the gospel to the unchurched masses. The Salvation Army is always interested in the progress of the city.

What Middlesboro need in particular is a temporary or permanent cheap rooming house for girls and young women that come to our city to work in the overall or suspender factory. Also a place where the police department could hold young boys and girls that run away from home instead of putting them in jail. Also a place to put homeless women and children.

If the public and business men want good, clean and religious environment for our working girls, we have the location and we are willing to look after this work. The Army has the lot and $1000 in the bank and a shell of a building. We believe that the business men and owners of factories would benefit by such a building as I described: a good three-story brick building equipped with baths, wash houses, reading rooms, chapel, gymnasium, bedrooms, etc. We are able to run this kind of an institution cheaper than any other institution in the world. It will be a labor of love. Let us get together to work for an up-to-date Salvation Army Working Girl's Home.

AN INTIMATE STORY OF INNERMOST EMOTIONS REVEALED IN PRIVATE LETTERS
Copyright 1923 -NEA Service Inc

LETTER FOM SALLY ATHERTON TO HER FRIEND, BEATRICE GRIMSHAW

DEAR BEE:

Your letter containing description of Leslie's wedding reached me on the day of Sam's and my first quarrel.

I had a horrible day at the office and the newspaper accounts of the grand doings at Leslie's wedding got on my nerves. I do not know whether it was from envy, jealousy or bodily fatigue, dear, but I could not finish that syrupy description in the Dispatch.

You see, I tried Sam's advice at the office. Told Mr. Ward that I could not work after five and got snubbed for my pains. Was given the intimation that there were other typists in the world. Started home very late expecting sympathy and found a note from Sam saying he had gone out to the restaurant for dinner, not finding me at home. Then I saw red.

I am telling you all this because I want to explain to you in just what mood I began to read your letter about Leslie's wedding. You know I love beautiful things and it almost seemed to me as I began that description as though I had voluntarily done myself out of something that every girl should have when I decided upon a quiet wedding. For the first time I envied Leslie.

I was reading the description out loud and weeping when Sam came back. I said something sharp and he answered in kind. Suddenly it came to me that I was making mountains out of mole hills.

Sam did not understand when I sputtered over the fact that he had gone out for dinner. He was not at all pleased when I again told him that he might have started dinner and then waited for me to come.

He said with a dignified air, "In my mother's house the men members of the family were not called upon to do anything. We came home after a hard day's work to rest and immediately, by some magic, the food was set before us. We ate and by the same magic the dishes were whisked outside."

"Do you remember just what time your mother made her appearance after dinner?" I asked hotly.

Sam wrinkled his forehead in an effort to remember. "Just about the time I was ready for bed if I had not gone out somewhere," he answered.

Then he said coldly, "Do you remember, Sally, that part of our contract was that each of us should do exactly as he chose? Well, I do not choose to cook."

Naturally this seemed reasonable to me, although I laid it away back in my head for I intend to pay Master Sam back in his own coin.

I laughed through my tears and decided not to pity myself any longer even if Leslie did have a great splurge of a wedding, and, dropping that Dispatch clipping into the fire, I said to Sam, 'Come on, let's go and take a walk," But (you see I am using one of your buts) I have already found out that marriage is quite different from just loving.

SALLY.

❖ ❖ Berton Braley's Daily Poem ❖ ❖

NO DOUBT ABOUT IT

❖ ❖ ❖ ❖ By Berton Braley ❖ ❖ ❖ ❖

You may flatter yourself you are very fit,
With a mighty wallop in either mitt,
With all of your pristine strength and grit,
In spite of your hair that's graying:
You may sport about and kick your heels,
Denying the years that your face reveals,
You may say a man is "young as he feels,"
But that is an empty saying.

If your heart is gay and your feet are light,
And the glow in your eyes is keen and bright,
Defying time in its dizzy flight,
And the clothes that you wear are dapper,
You may fool yourself and the older folks,
But all your efforts are but a joke,
For you are simply a "nice old bloke"
In the eyes of the pretty flapper.

Don't blind yourself to the sullen facts,
Though your vigorous strength from your age subtracts,
Though you think a man is young as he acts
And to mix with the kids you hunger;
It ain't no use—you have come too far,
And though it gives you an awful jar,
You're as old as the youngsters think you are
And not a darn bit younger!

CO OPERATION IN CLEAN UP WEEK

State Fire Prevention Department Points Out Value Of Civic and Individual Cleanliness

By Associated Press

FRANKFORT Ky., April 19.—Co-operation in the observance of Clean Up and Paint Up Week, April 23 to 28, under auspices of the department of fire prevention and rates here, is urged in announcements sent to city officials throughout the state.

Clean Up Week last year did not begin until May and it was decided this year to start earlier so that back yars and gardens could be cleaned of all rubbish before May.

In letters to the mayors in the Kentucky cities, towns and villages, J. A. Steltenkamp, chief deputy auditor, has told of the heavy fire losses in 1922 and has urged co-operation in cutting down such losses during 1923. Mr. Steltenkamp's letter in part, follows:

"Fire losses in Kentucky during the year 1922 have been of such proportions as to demand attention of the people to an evil, which if impossible to conquer, is necessary to curb.

"For the purpose of promoting the safety and security of life and property from fire, the week of April 23-28 has been designated Clean Up And Paint Up Week and I most earnestly desire to impress upon all the citizens of the state the importance of making this week what the term implies.

"Clean streets and clean alleys, clean front yards and clean back yards, clean cellars and clean attics, clean parks and clean play grounds furnish the necessary environment for the formation of clean characters so essential for our growing boys and girls.

"In order to co-operate in this work to the fullest extent, we request and urge the mayors and officials of our cities, towns and villages throughout the state to issue a proclamation for a general Clean Up Paint Up Week and we call upon all the citizens of the state to assist us in ourwork of fire protection and fire prevention.

"Let all public and private institutions, hotels, asylums, factories, etc, be carefully inspected this week and any changes to prevent fires or insure the safety of the occupants be immediately made."

A ROAD IN IRELAND
By Charles L. O'Donnell

From Killybegs to Ardara is seven Irish miles,
'Tis there the blackbirds whistle and the mating cuckoos call.
Beyond the fields the green sea glints, above the heaven smiles
On all the white boreens that thread the glens of Donegal.
Along the roads what feet have passed, could they but tell the story,
Of ancient king and saint and bard, the roads have known them all;
Lough Dergh, Doon Well, Glen Columcille, the names are yet a glory.
'Tis great ghosts in the gloaming remember Donegal.
The harbor ships of Killybegs glistened with Spanish sail
The days Spain ventured round the world and held the half in thrall
And Ardara has writ her name in the proud books of the Gael,
Though sleep has fallen on them now in dreaming Donegal.
Well, time will have its fling with dust, it is the changeless law,
But this I like to think of whatever may befall:
When she came up from Killybegs and he from Ardara
My father met my mother on the road, in Donegal.

FIGURES IN SMALL CASE

WAUKEGAN, Ill. April 18– Governor Len Small, acquitted here last summer on charges of conspiracy to defraud the state of interest on public funds, may be compelled to face trial again under the same charges despite the constitutional provision which forbids placing anyone in jeopardy more than once for the same offense.

This is the opinion of State's Attorney A. V. Smith, now pushing a grand jury probe into the alleged plot to bribe members of the panel which returned a "not guilty" verdict for Small after months of trial which cost taxpayers thousands of dollars.

Smith bases his statement, he says, on the probable outcome of a case now before the supreme court which will decide once and for all whether any defendant may be twice tried for the same crime provided the existence of fraud at his first hearing can be proved.

17 Charges

So far the investigation has resulted in indictment of three men. Each is specifically accused in columinous true bills on 17 counts including—

Conspiracy to obstruct justice.

Conspiracy to bribe a juror.

Conspiracy to do an unlawful act.

Conspiracy to have a juror answer questions.

Conspiracy to are a juror qualified.

Those indicted are:

John Birney Field, a juror in the Small trial and Antioch (Ill.) village here and baseball player, who was appointed deputy state game warden following the governor's acquittal.

Eddie Courtney, alleged by Chicago police to have a court record.

Eddie Kaufman, Chicagoan, recently arrested while allegedly heading a convoy of beer runners and now under federal indictment also.

Another man, William J. Riley, Antioch (Ill) saloon keeper, is being held as a state witness, accused of having received $1000 from Chicago "fixers" of which he paid $350 to Field and held out on the balance

The indictments charge that Courtney and Kaufman did the "fixing," and that Field accepted the bribe.

Kaufman is the only defendant who has been taken into custody up to date. His $5000 bail was signed by Russell E. Edwards, a brother of Judge Claire C. Edwards, who presided over Governor Small's trial.

Small Calls It Plot

Governor Small brands the probe as a "further wicked attempt to besmirch my reputation for political reasons."

He charges that Attorney General Brundage, with whom he has long been at loggerheads, as being one of the many forces behind the investigation.

State's Attorney Smith says that the probe has "only begun," and that by the time all the evidence is in "many sensational boomshells will be exploded" by the testimony to be taken around the last of April when the grand jury is scheduled to resume its hearings in the case

DAHLIAS FOR THE HOME GARDEN

By W. R. Beattie
Extension Horticulturist, United States Department of Agriculture

Lovers of flowers of the more striking types have had their desires gratified the past few years in the wonderful development of the dahlia. While this flower is not adapted to growing everywhere and does best in moderately cool or temperate climates, it makes a good showing and often gives a reasonable profit from the sale of cut flowers. Present varieties include flowers from the small compact type all the way to the big, spreading, loose petaled sorts that are extremely attractive.

In the fall, about the time the frost kills the dahlia plants, the stems are cut off just above the ground. The tubers or roots are dug and left in a cluster for storage. Dahlia roots can be kept under much the same conditions as Irish potatoes, that is, they should be kept reasonably cool so they will not sprout and should not become so dry that they will shrivel.

A storage cellar where potatoes are kept is generally fairly good for keeping dahlia roots. In order to keep the roots from drying out by exposure to the air they may be packed in a shallow box of sand which is moistened just a little from time to time but not enough to cause the roots to rot.

Thinning Out

In the spring of the year the roots are taken out and divided, one root being planted wher each hill of dahlias is wanted. Sometimes each root will throw up several stems and if too many appear, part should be thinned out.

The plants can be bought into bloom earlier by placing each tuber in a pot and starting the plants in the house, then setting them in the open ground after the weather has become warm. The same method can be followed where a hotbed or coldframe is available for starting the plants. Pots five or six inches in diameter will be needed as the roots are sometimes rather large.

Dahlias should be planted on good, deeply prepared soil and the individual plants placed at least three feet apart in the row and the rows about four feet apart. A stake should be driven by each hill and the stems kept tied to these stakes, as they break easily with the wind.

Cultivation

The cultivation of dahlias is just about the same as for tomatoes or most any of the garden crops. In extremely dry weather they will need watering. A little mixed fertilizer sprinkled over the surface and worked into the soil about the time they begin to bloom will add vigor to the plants. Mulching with fine, strawy manure or sweepings from the poultry house is also an advantage.

Where dahlias are grown as border plants and the flowers not cut for sale or for use in the house the old flowers should be kept nipped off before they fade, so the vigor of the plants will go into the formation of new flowers. The best effects in growing dahlias are obtained where they are either planted in a mass of one color only or else the combination of colors in the group planting is carefully considered .The colors vary from light cream or almost white to the deepest red and bronze.

Insects and Diseases

It is a well known fact that there are many insects and diseases that effect the vegetables growing in the garden. For the most part, these garden pests are comparatively easy to control, provided one will prepare for the mwith the proper equipment and materail. Then by carefully obseving the habits of some of the insects, it is an easy proposition to apply a remedy that will prevent them from doing serious injury. For example, the cabbage worm can be controlled by dusting with a mixture made of one part of arsenate of lead and nine parts of air-slaked lime. The ear worm on corn can be held in check by the same mixture, applying the dust when the silks are beginning to show. Some may prefer to use Paris Green or powdered Hellebore as a means of controlling the cabbage worm. These remedies should be found to be effective. The cucumber bettle, a common insect found in the garden damages cucumbers and melons, is a very difficult to control. However, a dust can be put on the plants and on the ground around the plants made of one pound of calcium or arsenate and twenty pounds of gypsum, or nicotine sulphate dust can be used.

As to the diseases, the leaf spot and the blight on tomatoes can be controlled by spraying with bordeaux mixture 4-4-50. The wilt on the tomatoes and the yellows on cabbage shoud be controlled by using resistant varieties. The Colorado potato beetle found on the potatoes can be controlled by spraying with arsenate of lead or dusting with arsenate of lead or Paris Green. If one is careful to kill the first of these insects, they will not give so much trouble later in the season.

GAS FROM FOOD PRESSES ON HEART

If food does not digest it turns into poisons which form gas. This often presses on heart and other organs causing a nervous, restless feeling. Simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adlerika, removes foul decaying food-matter you never thought was in your system which causes gas and pressure on heart. Adlerika expels poisons and gas from BOTH upper and lower bowel. EXCELLENT to guard against appendicitis. Frank L. Lee and Co., druggists.

WHY CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGNS ARE NECESSARY

Clean Up Campaigns are necessary because homes, businesses and towns are not operated in an efficient way. Tidiness and cleanliness in the home means system in operation; system in operation is the result of the careful handling of the family's financing. Careful financing means the backing and assistance of a good bank.

In every effort to improve conditions, do not neglect your financial affairs. Do not allow them to become tangled and chaotic by following poor business methods. Establish a connection with a good bank and order your ways according to its counsel.

You—The Public We Serve—Own This Company

THE relation of the Cumberland Telephone & Telegraph Company to the Bell System is not always understood, and the fact of this relationship is frequently misused in an unfriendly manner.

There is no secret about the organization or ownership of the Bell System. It is a simple matter which anyone can understand.

The Cumberland Company is owned by the Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company, which is owned by the American Telephone & Telegraph Company, which in turn is owned by more than 250,000 stockholders and many thousands of bond holders. These stock and bond holders are mostly small investors residing in every State in the Union.

The Bell System is not now and never has been controlled by any single interest or group of interests, and is in the truest possible sense a public utility. It is owned by the public and serves the public.

The fact that the Cumberland Company is a part of the great Bell System, which is the most extensive and comprehensive system of telephones in the world, enables it to furnish the most efficient, extensive and reliable telephone service at the lowest cost to the subscriber that obtains anywhere. The telephone business is still a new business, actually less than fifty years old, and the art is constantly developing.

The relationship between this Company and the parent organization assures to this Company a continuous, intelligent and scientific study of conditions, which makes available to it every improvement in the art tending to better and more economical service. It has made universal service possible, so that every subscriber of this Company may reach practically every place — large or small—in the United States.

No single company could accomplish the same results for itself. The expense item alone would necessitate rates for service that would be greatly in excess of what they are at present. It is these results that the Cumberland Company secures through its relationship with the Bell System.

KIWANIS CLUB ENDORSE CLEAN UP CAMPAIGN

More Interest in Bosworth Trail Urged, May Bring Boosters Here, Smyth Explains Fiscal Court Action

J. B. SWEENEY WAS CHAIRMAN MEETING TODAY

"To the Kiwanis Club:

"The Woman's Club is launching a Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Plant-Up Campaign April 22 to 28. This is nation-wide, through the General Federation of Woman's Clubs.

"We ask that your club endorse this movement, lend your aid and influence, that we all work together for a cleaner, better Middlesboro.

"Thanking you in advance,

Yours truly,

Ruby Balfour Hinks,

President of Woman's Club"

In a unanimous endorsement of the foregoing resolution and a hearty promise of cooperation, the Kiwanis Club at its noon day luncheon today, lent its support to the Clean Up, Paint Up, Plant Up campaign being launched by the Woman's Club. J. B. Sweeney was chairman of the meeting. Forty-eight persons were present. John Burnett drew the attendance prize.

In the absence of a regular speaker the meeting today was turned into a general discussion, with several interesting developments. In particular, was the matter brought up concerning the Bosworth Trail. Judge J. F. Bosworth, called upon to speak on this proposed road, told of the Boosters' meeting he attended last week in Richmond, adding, 'those people at that end of the trail are taking a great deal of interest in it, but the only person on this end who seemed interested is Joe Bosworth." He told, however, of the impressive address made by Prof. J. J. DeWall of Red Bird at the Richmond meeting, in behalf of the road.

Judge Bosworth stressed the importance of this proposed road to the section through which it was routed, saying that the new Ford land there, when developed would be equal to the Harlan land. He painted out the great worth its development would be to Middlesboro, the largest city of the section. However, Mr. Bosworth said a move was on foot in the fiscal court to deflect the $60,000 voted in the bond issue, from use on this road, and he asked the Kiwanis Club to get behind the court and the people in general urging support.

Stress Road's Importance

Judge Bosworth also expressed a hope that the Middlesboro Kiwanis Club would invite the Bosworth Trail Boosters here some time to a meeting similar to the one at Richmond.

Following Mr. Bosworth, John Howard arose and asked that a committee be appointed to see about entertaining the Boosters, also, that steps be taken to increase interest in the road here and to investigate actions of the fiscal court.

Then C. G. Smyth, member of the fiscal court, spoke, saying that there was little danger of losing the bond appropriation. He told of an effort at last meeting, when he was absent because he had to hear his own docket, and Dr. Jacob Schultz, other Middlesboro member, was absent because of sickness. At this time, he said, a move was made to try to get the bonds applying to the Harlan road, $215,000 worth, sold immediately, thus tieing up the rest of the amount because this amount is all the present assessment of Bell county can stand. This was blocked, however, and Mr. Smyth assured the club no bonds would be sold until the county had been reappraised and all the bonds could be sold.

Several guests were present and they expressed approval of Middlesboro and the Kiwanis Club. Conrad M. Valstead, field engineer for the Portland Cement Co., gave a short talk on his work, which is extending and improving the use of cement. He is particularly interested in promoting the manufacturing of cement here.

A letter was read by the president A. P. Liebig, rfom L. D. Hill, in part as follows: "the kindness and sympathy shown us by the Kiwanis Club at the time of Mrs Hill's death were a great consolation and words cannot express the gratitude I have in my heart for all of you. The Kiwanis spirit and Kiwanis brotherhood can enlighten any man's soul at a time when no words can express his secret agony. Your friendship has made my burden lighter. Assuring you all of my heartfelt appreciation, Yours in Kiwanis, L. D. Hill."
